The Insurance Provider

The insurance provided with the Vehicle Information Services is underwritten by the Insurance Provider and Experian acts for and on behalf of this underwriter.

The Client's Duty of Disclosure

The insurance provided to the Client is based on the information the Client provided to Experian. The Client must ensure that any information it provides for the purposes of insurance is complete and accurate, and that any facts that may influence the Insurance Provider's decision to accept and pay a valid claim, are disclosed. Failure to disclose material information may invalidate a Client's insurance cover and could result in the claim not being paid.

Insurance Premiums

The Client will not have to pay an arrangement fee for the insurance element of our Vehicle Information Services but the Client agrees to pay a premium in respect of the Insurance Policy and details of the premium costs and levels of cover are as more specifically detailed in the Schedule.

Holding Premiums

Prior to the premium being forwarded to the Insurance Provider, for the Client's protection, Experian holds the Client's money as an agent of the Insurance Provider and the relevant insurance policy is treated as being paid for. Experian also reserves the right to retain any interest earned on such premiums held. The Client acknowledges and consents to Experian operating in this way.

Disclosure of Client Confidential Information

Notwithstanding anything to the contrary, the Client acknowledges and agrees that some or all of the information that the Client supplies Experian in connection with the insurance option may be passed to the Insurance Provider and other companies for underwriting, claims and premium collection purposes.

The Insurance Option

Where both Experian and the Client agree to the Vehicle Information Services Insurance Option and provided the Client is eligible in accordance with the Vehicle Information Services Insurance Policy, the Client shall be entitled to certain insurance cover provided by the Insurance Provider in relation to any motor vehicles that Experian has carried out a Vehicle Information Services enquiry and for which (in Experian's opinion) Experian has given the Client enough information.

In order to receive the benefit of the insurance cover, the Client agrees to pay the relevant premium charge (in addition to the fees) for each vehicle information services enquiry made. This does not affect Limits of Liability Clause in the Standard Terms and Conditions.

As long as the Client meets its obligations to Experian under this Agreement, and the terms and conditions contained within the relevant Insurance Policy with the Insurance Provider, and is eligible for such insurance, Experian will arrange for the insurance to be provided by the Insurance Provider.

The Financial Services Compensation Scheme (FSCS)

Without prejudice to the term of this Agreement or to any other insurance cover provided to the Client pursuant to the Vehicle Information Services Insurance Option and/or the Vehicle Mileage Check Insurance Option, the Client may cancel any insurance policy cover in respect of a specific check at any time in writing. Due to the small amount of premium and the immediate incidence of risk under an Insurance Policy, no refund of the insurance premium is payable on cancellation.

Cancellation of an Insurance Option

Cancellation of a particular insurance policy should not be confused with cancellation of an Insurance Option. If the Client wants to
