

Prove your employment in seconds with Work Report™

Share your employment and income details digitally to access the right solutions for you.

Applying for credit, a mortgage or a new role requires income and employment information. Finding this information can be stressful and time consuming – and often you need access to credit or services fast!

This is why Experian has created Work Report™, the quick, simple and secure way for you to share your verified employment and income information, in seconds with the organisations you choose.

It's an innovation that can drastically speed up the process of, for example, buying a house.

Don't worry we will never share your data with anyone you don't tell us too, your data is always safe, protected using bank-grade encryption.

Take the hassle out of online applications, say goodbye to paper or PDF payslips and access the services or solutions you want, quicker.

Quick

Work Report™ makes applications simpler and quicker so you can spend your time doing the things you enjoy.

Convenient

No more searching for information or documents to upload, complete applications digitally at any time day or night, and access credit or services quickly.

Safe

Information is passed via secure APIs rather than email. Data is shared under the terms of the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) and Experian is authorised and regulated by the Financial Conduct Authority (FCA)

Work Report is supportive of the UK GDPR, which gives employees the "right to access" and the "right to port" their data. No data is accessed without the employee's explicit consent. Data remains on their or their payroll providers servers. The minimum required information is pulled from payroll to fulfil employment and/ or income verification request. Data varies by use case. GDPR Principle at the core of the service.
